How is the benefit calculated?

- A full retirement benefit is calculated on the basis of your number of years of contributory service at the date of your separation and your final average remuneration (FAR) (i.e. the 36 completed calendar months of your highest pensionable remuneration within the last 5 years of your contributory service).

- You have the option to commute up to max. 1/3 of your full entitlements into a one-time lump sum cash payout payable at the date of benefit implementation; your periodic entitlement payable for life would be proportionately reduced for life.

- An early retirement benefit is calculated on the basis of your number of years of contributory service at the date of your separation and your final average remuneration (FAR) (i.e. the 36 completed calendar months of your highest pensionable remuneration within the last 5 years of your contributory service).

- Because this benefit is payable earlier than your normal retirement age, a reduction factors will be applied to your entitlement, for life. The extent of the reduction depends on your age at the time of separation, i.e. the year(s) and month(s) that separate you from your normal retirement age, and the length of

- A deferred retirement benefit is calculated on the basis of your number of years of contributory service at the date of your separation and your final average remuneration (FAR) (i.e. the 36 completed calendar months of your highest pensionable remuneration within the last 5 years of your contributory service).

- If you elect to be paid at any date after your early retirement age and prior to reaching your normal retirement age, your benefit would be reduced for life in the same manner as an early retirement benefit.
